

ABSTRACT

Use of internal gas-forming compound to adjust coating porosity to control copper release rates in algae-retardant roofing granule products.